Disney · PIXAR
FINDING DORY

The title of the movie "Finding Dory" is displayed in a large, white, sans-serif font. The word "FINDING" is in a smaller bold font above the word "DORY", which is in a larger bold font. A white wavy line starts under the "D" and sweeps up and over the end of the "Y". Above the title, the Disney and Pixar logos are stacked vertically.

The Huge Mistake in 'Finding Dory' That You Totally Missed

Every ocean fan loves a good movie about the sea, but did you catch the huge mistake in "Finding Dory" about Destiny the whale shark?

Finding Dory is an ocean lover's dream come true. A whole movie about the sea? Sign us up! But, despite the movie's four-year production period and the research the animation team put into getting everything juuuust right, the film did get some things

IS ACTUALLY A SHARK.

A close-up shot of several white birds with bright orange beaks and feet, perched on a dark wooden branch. They are looking towards the right of the frame. The background is a soft-focus blue sky.

the point!
